

SERVING YOUR BUSINESS

LIQUID BULKS

Expertise

Together with our customers, ABP offers a range of facilities for handling and storing a range of liquid bulks, including Liquid Natural Gas.

ABP's principal operations handling oil and petroleum products are located on the Humber. Immingham Oil Terminal supports major refineries which supply a significant proportion of the nation's petroleum and fuel, whilst the Port of Hull houses the chemical site to store businesses' product requirements and supply the PX Saltend Chemicals Park.

Recent investments in Immingham have also enabled ABP to offer services for the growing demand of waste liquid product processing.

We work flexibly and collaboratively with customers and constantly invest in our operations to offer the best services available as well as to ensure that there are options to expand and develop new capacity to suit market demand and future product needs.

Facilities

ABP offers a wide range of specialist facilities located at a number of ABP's ports, including Cardiff.

Across our business we have liquid bulk storage installations at 11 ports, all provided and operated by specialist liquid storage operators.

With such a geographically diverse range of ports, ABP is able to offer logistics and storage solutions throughout the country. Many of our ports offer rail links connecting liquid storage facilities to the UK network and regional markets.

Our substantial range of tank storage provision throughout the ports offers storage facilities for petroleum products, petrochemicals, food-grade products and other vegetable and edible oils, including molasses, chemicals, natural gas, and alcohol.

ABP has the capability to invest in and construct facilities tailored to suit your business needs.
