

SERVING YOUR BUSINESS

FOREST PRODUCTS

Expertise

ABP offers unparalleled expertise in safely handling a wide range of forest products, including timber, reels, palletised paper and board. ABP already offers facilities and services to leading forest products businesses across the nation.

Throughout our network of 21 ports around Britain, our expert and highly trained teams are ready to work in partnership to deliver the solutions your business needs. Our expertise ranges from the discharge of Ro-Ro and de-vanning containers to providing storage with integrated stock management IT solutions and haulage services.

Our depth of expertise also includes managing shipping operations, as exemplified by the unique Timberlink service which provides sustainable supply chain solutions for roundwood timber from the Argyll peninsula in Scotland. Utilising our port locations, we are well positioned to offer a multi-port distribution package with one consolidated contractual agreement, offering significant benefits for your business.

Facilities

We understand that you and your customers need safe and time-efficient handling, keeping control of your costs. ABP's extensive portfolio of facilities, backed by well-equipped stevedoring operations and other services, will help your business achieve that objective.

ABP has recently invested more than £500 million in port facilities and equipment. This includes state-of-the-art cranes, terminal facilities, handling equipment and industry-leading storage facilities to serve the forest products market.

ABP's Timber Treatment Plant at Ipswich has high-pressure timber treatment units which can treat timber packs of up to 24 metres in length, offering an unrivalled service from ship to shore.

ABP has the capability to invest in and construct facilities tailored to suit your business needs.

Connectivity

As the UK's largest port operator with a network of 21 ports around Britain, we offer excellent marine access. Our ports offer efficient road and rail links, providing swift access to destinations throughout the country.

As the UK's best-connected port operator, ABP provides an unparalleled range of locations, routes and logistics solutions ready to serve our customers' business needs.
